Entered as second-class matter at the Postoffice at Indianapolis, Ind.

No Illinois Senator yet. The Legislature has adjourned until next Tuesday.

WILLIAM DELIVER was yesterday declared not guilty by a jury at Winamac, Ind. He was tried for the murder of Zack Lettman, committed at Medaryville last February.

A WASHINGTON special says: "Vice President Hendricks will remain in the city a few days. In that time he hopes to get a few Republicans turned out and good Indiana Democrats put in their places. All the Democrats hope he will succeed."

THE NEW YORK WORLD, in referring to our Ex-Minister to Turkey, says: "Minister Lew Wallace has bidden a fearful adieu to the sublime Porte. The half-dozen Americans in charge of the Bible House in Pera have presented him with an address. It was hoped that the Sultan would present him with a house and lot in Sultani and thereby induce him to remain in the Orient, but the Sultan has lost his last chance to make a friend of the United States."

SENATOR MAHONE is said to be the ideal poker player of the generation. We thought that Mr. Schenck, of Ohio, ex-Minister to England under a portion of the recent Republican regime, enjoyed the reputation of being the poker player par excellence of this day and generation. During his residence at the English Court he wrote a book on poker and it was published with the cordial indorsement of the nobility. The only doubt that might be raised is the fact that Schenck is a Republican, and it is said that Republicans don't play poker. It is only wicked Democrats that know much about the game.

A CORRESPONDENT writing from Washington on the 14th says that Hon. Bayless Hanna on that day said to him: "I had an interview with the President yesterday and told him that my little daughter was seriously ill and I feared the terrible trip to Peru would be more than she could stand. I asked the President to change my appointment to the Argentine Republic. He was very kind and intimated that he would gladly do so if the Secretary of State did not object. I subsequently saw the Secretary and he said that he would talk to the President, and, if agreeable to him, the change would be made."

It rather pleases the New York Sun—that confidential letter of Mr. Vilas. The Sun remarks: The Postmaster General of the United States has written a confidential letter to the Democratic Representatives in Congress from New York, Indiana, Ohio and Virginia which was made public yesterday. It relates to the removal of partisan Republican postmasters, and discloses a plan which, in the language of Mr. Vilas himself, is "in short, to pick out the most obnoxious and offensive partisans in each county of all, and choose first-class men to take their places." This project is unobjectionable. Good Democrats should be substituted as speedily as may be for Republican officers who have been partisan rather than public servants." That is exactly correct. Turn them out.

A NYACK, New York, doctor had a queer incident with a cigar in that town a day or two ago. He bought a cigar as he went home to his dinner. After he had smoked the cigar and, after leisurely sucking for a few minutes, he was startled by a loud explosion, which knocked him from his easy chair. He was blinded and severely burned about the face and head. Fragments of the cigar were found scattered about the room, and an empty shell of a twenty-two calibre pistol-cartridge was picked up. An experienced oculist has charge of the injured man. It is feared that he may lose his sight. It is not thought that the cigar was known to have contained the cartridge when sold, and the dealer says that the box from which the cigar was taken was received by him from the manufacturer but a few days ago. The maker, who is one of the most extensive cigar manufacturers in the country, can not account for the cartridge being in the cigar.

SOME of the organs are making quite a hubbub over what they call Postmaster General Vilas' "remarkable" letter in which he defines his idea of offensive partisan Postmasters. The Postmaster says: "I will require no more proof of partisanship in these selections than the affirmation of knowledge on the part of a Representative or Senator than the Postmaster has been an active editor or proprietor of a Republican newspaper printing offensive articles, easily shown by all, or a stump speaker, or member of a political committee, or officer of a campaign club, or organizer of political meetings, or that his office has been made the headquarters of political work, or that his clerks have been put into the performance of political duties. Possibly other acts of equal force may be cited in some cases. If the Representative does not know the fact, it should be established by some affidavit of some person whom he can affirm to be of unquestioned credibility, or by some documentary evidence." When the Republican party came into power, the fact that a man was a Democrat was enough to haul him out of office. If he was a Democrat he was an "offensive partisan."

SHERIFF CARTER'S APPEAL CASE.

The Board of Commissioners recently refused to allow Sheriff Carter his fees for receiving and discharging prisoners from the county jail. These fees have heretofore been allowed to Mr. Carter's predecessors in office. They were allowed all through the term of Sheriff Pressly and throughout the term of Mr. Hess, except the last settlement the latter gentleman made with the county, at which time it was known that a Democrat was elected to the office of Sheriff. Immediately thereupon the County Board discovered that the fees for receiving and discharging prisoners were not payable out of the County Treasury. The present Board of Commissioners had allowed the bill for these services more than twenty-five times, and yet they never discovered that it was not payable out of the County Treasury. These fees are in plain terms given the Sheriff by our statute, and he is entitled to have them paid. The question is not one as to whether the emoluments of the Sheriff are great or small, are too great or too little; it is a question of rights under the law. It has been declared by the Supreme Court of the foremost State of this Union, "that an office is property. The incumbent has the same right to it as he has to any other property. There is a contract between him and the State that he will discharge the duties of the office, and he is pledged by his oath, and the State is pledged by its honor that he shall have the emoluments of his office. When the contract is struck it is complete and binding as a contract between individuals, and it can not be abrogated or impaired except by the consent of both parties."

Fees are perquisites allowed to officers who have to do with the administration of justice as a compensation for services rendered. The fees allowed by the statutes of this State to the Sheriff are, as the courts have declared, his property. They are the compensation for services rendered. Our Constitution provides that "no man's particular services shall be demanded without just compensation." In this case the Sheriff is not asking anything more than his rights. He has asked the County Board to pay for services which are imposed on him by his office, and for which payment has been provided by the statutes of this State. If there were no statute on the subject the county would be bound to compensate the officer, for it is decided that "whatever the law requires an officer to do or to furnish for the public the law requires the public to pay for." But here is an exhibition of partisan meanness attempting to deprive Sheriff Carter of what is justly due him. The fees for receiving and discharging prisoners have been paid out of the County Treasury of the various counties of this State since the adoption of the first fee bill in 1852. These fees are now paid in every county in Indiana, except Marion County, where the Board of Commissioners, we must think, have, for simply partisan reasons, refused to allow a worthy official what is due him by law.

A GRAND SOLDIERS' REUNION.

It is contemplated to hold a grand reunion of the soldiers of the North and the soldiers of the South at Philadelphia, beginning on the 28th of June and continuing until the 6th of July. The large and capacious Fairmount Park has been selected for the purpose, and the proposed reunion has received the cordial indorsement of Generals Sherman, Sheridan, Hancock, Hartshorn and other distinguished Generals of the Union armies, as well as that of Generals Fitz Hugh Lee, Kirby Smith, Beauregard, Buckner and other famous soldiers of the South. Grand military displays, competitive drills, etc., will be arranged during the encampment. General Slocum will be the Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements and the Secretary of War will designate a Commanding General from the regular army, who will have charge of the assembled forces. The enterprise meets with the cordial approval of the President, Secretary of War and the Governors of all States who have been consulted. Many States have promised several companies of infantry, batteries of artillery, etc. It is understood that excursion tickets at low rates will be placed upon sale in all parts of the country, and that the Pennsylvania Road has signified its willingness to transport military organizations at half a cent per mile for each soldier. We trust that this reunion may be a grand success, and that it may result in the fostering of the most cordial relationship between the two sections of the country.

A REQUIREMENT OF JUSTICE.

There is no good reason whatever, in the interests of efficient and economical administration, why any of the officers, except the few that have to do with the distinctive policy of the party in power, should be filled by members of one party rather than by those of another. This principle of justice, pure and simple. The country owes it to members of the Democratic party that its affairs are not to-day under corrupt Republican management. The administration owes to members of the Democratic party its existence. Mr. Cleveland was not nominated by Republicans, but by Democrats. He was elected not by Republican, but by Democratic ballots. His cause was championed and maintained throughout the campaign not by members of the other party, but by those of his own party. Through twenty-five years the members of the Democratic party have spoken and written and worked and made sacrifices for the preservation of the party. For this they deserve the honors and emoluments of the administration which they have finally placed in power.

There is but one question the administration should stop to ask in this matter; to wit: "Are there members of the Democratic party competent to fill the offices and perform the services of the Government?" That is the sole question it properly has to consider. If the answer be in the affirmative—and none but a Republican partisan devoid of truth would answer in the negative—then as rapidly as selections can be made, Democrats should be appointed to the offices. There is not a Republican place-holder today who has not, to say the least, a full equal in capacity and honesty in some Democrat who may be found to succeed him, and justice demands that the Democrat be accorded the succession by the administration.

We can not but believe that Mr. Cleveland must recognize the obligations his administration and the country are under to members of the Democratic party, and we expect it of him that he will disregard the obligations. We understand him as being desirous of going slowly, so as to go surely, in making appointments. But we look to his decision when made, to be, in all instances, for the preferment of members of his own party.

NORTHWESTERN TROUBLES.

It looks as if the Back of the Rebellion was Broken, Though Bands of Indians Carry on a Guerrilla Warfare.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 15.—The Dispatch's Winnipeg special from Clark's Crossing, May 14, says: "A half-breed courier arrived from Prince Albert during the night. He reports everything quiet there. Captain Moore, wounded in the Dull Lake fight, had his leg amputated a few days ago. He is in a critical condition, and fears are entertained for his recovery. Tait also reports that the half-breeds are arriving at General Middleton's camp surrendering in large numbers. They all are being forced into the rebellion. Charles Nolin is blamed by all as the instigator of the half-breeds, and Monkman as the instigator among the Indians. Forty bodies of rebels have been found on the field, fifteen of which are Indians. The steamer North-cote had a narrow escape, and had it not been for the coolness displayed by 'C' Company of the School of Infantry under Major Smith, a disaster would have resulted. Colonel Bedson, Chief of Transport, was shot through the coat. His clerk had a flesh wound through the thigh."

SAKACHE, May 15.—Father Moulin, the parish priest, was asked today as to the losses of the rebels in the fighting at Batouche. He gave them as fifty-one killed and 173 wounded. His statement may be relied upon as accurate.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 15.—The Dispatch's special from the Battle of May 14 says: "A party of seven mounted police, patrolling about noon to day near the entrance to Eagle Hill, ten miles from here, were surprised by a large band of mounted Indians and fired on. Costable Elliot was instantly killed, dropping out of his saddle, and Constable Spencer was wounded in the body, but succeeded in riding away. A courier came through the hills about the same time. He came up with a train of ox teams carrying provisions up Swift Current trail to this point. They were waiting for an escort from one of the most convenient music halls in this part of the State. The opening overture was composed by Professor Rudy, the band's instructor, and was rendered by fifty musicians. The overture is a gem in the way of music."

A Verdict of Not Guilty in Deliver's Case. Special to the Sentinel.

WINAMAC, Ind., May 15.—In the case of the State vs. William Deliver, indicted for the murder of Zack Lettman, at Medaryville on the 23d of last February, the jury to-day returned a verdict of not guilty. The State's attorney, George W. Beaman, prosecuted the case with great force, but the facts were in favor of the defendant. The court room was crowded, many ladies being present. Judge Spangler defended the prisoner.

Entombed Miners at Ashland Colliery.

ASHLAND, Pa., May 15.—The gangway at North Ashland Colliery was cleared last night into No. 44 shaft, where two of the imprisoned men were supposed to be, but another rush occurred, filling up the gangway and compelling the rescuing party to retreat. The fall covered their tools, thus delaying work until other tools were supplied. They are now no nearer to the entombed miners than when they started.

K. OF P. CARNIVAL.

A Grand Carnival at Connersville Under the Auspices of Carahan Division No. 17.

It is often said that when the Order of Knights of Pythias, or any of its branches, undertake to get up any kind of an entertainment for the benefit of the institution that they never do it by halves, and this appears to be true, for they have never yet made a failure of any kind of scheme or entertainment under the auspices of their Order. The Order is young in years, but it is full of vigor. It is composed of that class of men who love progressive ideas, hence their desire is to climb the ladder of progress, stepping over obstructions apparently dangerous, but their eye is constantly on the summit, and they are generally determined to reach there, if within the possibilities.

The city of Connersville has been holding a grand K. of P. carnival under the auspices of Carahan's Division No. 17. K. of P., for a week past, commencing on last Monday, with remarkable success. The Fair was held in a building 165 feet long and forty-five feet wide, which is used as a rink. The citizens made a nice display of different kinds of goods, very tastefully arranged and decorated with K. of P. flags and other ornate decorations, all of which presented a very fine appearance.

The first three days the fair was a success financially, being well patronized by the citizens, ten cents being the admission fee to review the display.

Arrangements were made by the committee of the division for a street parade on Thursday by divisions from several parts of the State, assisted by the home division, and the following divisions and corps took part: Oxford Division, Oxford, O., S. K. Commander Murray; Many Division No. 18, C. J. Many, S. K. C.; Carahan Division No. 17; Rushville Drill Corps, Captain Roberts; Liberty Drill Corps, Captain Cooper. As soon as Indianapolis and Louisville companies arrived, Carahan Division and another being at the depot waiting, the line was formed, many divisions taking the lead and Carahan Division bringing up the rear. Indianapolis Union Band leading, discoursed some fine music, and in perfect time to music by The Rushville band also played well. There were five bands, and the music was all that could be desired. The line of march was through the most prominent streets, which were nicely decorated with the flags on which was the insignia of the Order and other appropriate decorations.

After the parade the visiting Knights were assigned to quarters where they partook of dinner. Many Division was assigned to the Grand Hotel, of which George W. Waley is proprietor, a very pleasant and commodious dwelling. The other companies were well taken care of all receiving the same courtesy. Later in the evening Indianapolis Union Band started out on a serenading tour. The first discourse was at S. K. J. C. Turkenkoph's cigar store, second at Times Office, and then other prominent places.

In the evening a beautiful sword and belt was voted upon for the best and most popular S. K. Commander. The following names being announced: H. Longnecker, Eaton, O. S. A. Cooper, Liberty, Ind.; A. Mann, Oxford, O., and C. J. Many, Indianapolis. The voting was rapid, and for a time Commander Many received the largest vote was presented with the sword by Commander Tazari, of Carahan Division, following

A Residence and Five Children Burned. CHICAGO, May 15.—The Minneapolis Journal's Owatonna, Minn., special says: "Last night Henry Lewiston's house caught fire, the family, consisting of himself, wife, seven children and a hired man, all sleeping in the second story. Lewiston and wife, awakened by the glare, rushed down stairs, the wife carrying the youngest child in her arms, another child, aged ten, and the hired man following. When Lewiston opened the door the flames burst in, nearly overtopping him, and burning off his hair and beard. The hired man succeeded in breaking a window, through which they escaped, but not before Mrs. Lewiston was severely burned. Lewiston made frantic efforts to reach his little daughter and four sons, still asleep up stairs, but all five perished in the flames."

The Bloomington Express Robber.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., May 15.—A large but orderly crowd assembled in the court room to-day to hear the evidence against William Wright, accused of robbing the express car on the L. N. A. and C. on the night of April 29. After much informal discussion, Colonel G. W. Friedley, the counsel for the railroad and Express Company, created a decided sensation by announcing that he had a surprise in store for the Court. He then informed those present that Wright had been confronted by J. Webber, the baggage master, and that the latter had announced positively that he was not the man, and on that evidence moved for Wright's discharge, which was at once done amid applause. Colonel Friedley then almost immediately announced that another man, named Chesley Chambers, had just been arrested on the charge, and that Webber had seen him and pronounced him the right one.

One of the gems of the evening was the solo, "Gnomes' Reigen," by Miss Anna Wilcox, and interpreted by her in that faultless style which must some day make for her a name, not only among amateurs, but in comparison with pianists of professional reputation. Miss Jessie Whitridge exhibited a surprising skill, using her clear and sympathetic piano voice with brilliant effect in Messrs. B.
